The NAMWOLF Compliance & Investigations Practice Area Committee

The Compliance and Investigations Practice Area Committee is made up of law firms and attorneys that have significant experience in corporate compliance and ethics programs as well as internal or government-initiated investigations. Our attorney members' experience ranges from investigating employment issues (including discrimination and policy violations), whistleblower complaints, regulatory issues and civil and criminal investigations by state and federal agencies such as State Attorneys General, FTC, DOJ, SEC, FINRA, etc. Our members have covered all aspects of compliance programs, including development of business control programs, risk assessments, and dealing with external monitors. The Compliance and Investigations PAC is a resource for in-house counsel looking for qualified firms to assist them with these sensitive matters by providing counsel with the necessary legal skills combined with real world business acumen to craft the appropriate response.

CONFIDENTIAL & SENSITIVE INVESTIGATIONS

On occasion, employers face a particularly high stakes, sensitive, or confidential employment matter that requires an internal investigation and recommendation of remedial strategies. In these situations, clients need someone outside their organization or who is not their regular outside counsel to manage the situation with objectivity and discretion. We conduct discrete, unbiased investigations related to claims of discrimination, sexual harassment, and retaliation for government, non-profit, and business clients. Our investigations ensure a fair outcome for the parties involved while reducing legal exposure.

We also provide organizations with employment counseling and diversity and inclusion training so they are better prepared to comply with their legal obligations, address reporting gaps, and make informed decisions to create an inclusive work culture.

Should litigation arise, our team is also well-equipped to advise clients on the best course of action for claims relating to discrimination, sexual harassment, retaliation, corporate governance, and other employment-related matters. Our team is intimately familiar with handling litigation matters through hearings, arbitration, and trials on the local, state, national, and global levels.

Member Melissa Hazell Davis focuses her practice on defending employers in litigation arising out of claims of discrimination, harassment, and retaliation, and representing employers in breach of contract, trade secret, non-compete, and other business related disputes. She also drafts and updates client policies, advises higher education institutions on compliance with Title IX, conducts sensitive confidential investigations, and prepares investigative findings and recommendations for allegations of discrimination, harassment, and retaliation.

EXPERIENCE

- Successfully defended multiple Fortune 500 companies, government agencies, and officials and nonprofits in discrimination lawsuits.
- Conducted confidential investigation on behalf of Fortune 500 retailer and prepared report and recommendations in connection with alleged impropriety.
- Conducted multiple sensitive confidential investigations on behalf of international and local high-profile non-profits relating to allegations of sexual harassment, gender discrimination, racial discrimination, LGBTQ+ discrimination, and retaliation.
- Represented several executives of non-profits in connection with separation agreements.

WORKPLACE INVESTIGATIONS

TLG's employment lawyers regularly conduct sensitive internal corporate investigations. Those investigations include claims of harassment, allegations of age, race, disability, and gender discrimination issues; disability accommodation issues; retaliation; and claims arising under whistleblower policies, among others.

Our lawyers regularly conduct workplace investigations for clients in a wide variety of industries. Those industries include education, nonprofit organizations, healthcare and health services, legal services, pharmaceuticals, professional organizations, and sports, among others.

We are frequently retained to conduct complex internal investigations in connection with allegations of workplace harassment and employee misconduct.

EXAMPLES OF RECENT TLG WORKPLACE INVESTIGATION MATTERS INCLUDE:

- | Counseling universities in connection with investigations of faculty members, students, and staff.
- | Investigating allegations of sexual misconduct involving an educator.
- | Investigating complaints involving the Chief Executive Officer of a major nonprofit corporation.
- | Conducting internal investigations into claims of alleged discrimination and bullying by senior executives of various nonprofit organizations.
- | Conducting internal investigations of allegations of workplace discrimination, sexual harassment, and implicit bias on behalf of law firms and nonprofit legal organizations.
- | Counseling professional organizations on investigating and responding to allegations of sexual harassment or misconduct by members.
- | Conducting an internal investigation of allegations of age, race, disability, gender discrimination, and retaliation on behalf of a public-private partnership.
- | Conducting several investigations related to complaints of mistreatment by employees of a public organization.
- | Representation of a client in a DOL investigation.

CONDUCTING WORKPLACE HARASSMENT INVESTIGATIONS

We begin each investigation by gathering documentation of the behavior in question. Starting with the complainant, we begin interviews with the parties involved. We record their viewpoint of the situation, documenting the details of the incident in question. From this conversation, we determine relevant witnesses and subsequently interview them. Finally, we interview the individual(s) accused of harassment.

Once all the interviews and documentation has been reviewed, we share the results with the employer, and collect our findings into a report at the company's request. Upon conclusion of the investigation, it is up to the company to decide how they would like to move forward.

Companies typically hire an outside investigator for more complex and sensitive cases of harassment, helping to avoid allegations of bias from within. Company attorneys can better do their job as an advocate when they do not have to be a neutral investigator. As a legal firm, TLG can also blanket the investigation in privilege.

Internal Investigations

VALENTINE AUSTRIACO & BUESCHEL IS A WOMEN-OWNED LAW FIRM SUITED FOR BUSINESS.

VAB attorneys are uniquely qualified to conduct investigations where outside counsel is necessary. Our decades of experience representing government agencies, closely held businesses, nonprofit organizations, corporate boards, and audit committees translates into a ready ability to assess the nature of your business, what drives its operations, and where vulnerabilities may exist. Through targeted document review and discrete and probative questioning of witnesses, we provide well-supported analyses of whether the conduct at issue raises meritorious claims or subjects our clients to scrutiny. Our clients praise our ability to give timely recommendations on sensitive issues while working to bring a principled and diverse voice to issues requiring investigation.

VAB'S INVESTIGATION SERVICES FALL WITHIN TWO PRIMARY AREAS:

FRAUD & OTHER VIOLATIONS OF LAW OR POLICY

VAB attorneys bring decades of experience investigating claims of malfeasance in a wide range of corporate situations and in proceedings in front of governmental agencies. Harnessing their deep knowledge of how regulated entities, such as insurance companies and financial institutions, operate within a regulatory framework, VAB attorneys know where to look and understand the financial incentives at play. Investigations include alleged internal controls failures, procurement irregularities, misstatement of financial statements, and data manipulation. In addition to looking to VAB for internal guidance on whether purported misconduct requires further action, our corporate clients also turn to VAB to investigate whether service professionals, contractors, or vendors have responsibility that may provide an alternate recovery source.

EMPLOYMENT ISSUES

EMPLOYMENT ISSUES When a claim of discrimination, harassment or retaliation is made and the need for investigation arises, clients trust VAB to provide thorough, timely, and cost-effective results. VAB provides both privileged and independent investigations, understanding the purpose and parameters of each approach. VAB attorneys set a clearly defined scope for each investigation and communicate with their clients at each critical juncture. The end result is a report that contains no surprises and can serve as an important tool in business decisions. VAB attorneys have also assisted clients in determining the extent of breaches of noncompete agreements and the misuse of confidential information, analyzing whether claims involving former employees are viable and cost-effective.

OUR INVESTIGATION ATTORNEYS

svalentine@vablawfirm.com | D (312) 238-9062

Susan has spent decades representing government agencies investigating regulated businesses, including the FDIC and state-appointed liquidators and receivers for insolvent insurance companies. She has investigated scores of professional liability and fraud claims on behalf of receivers of failed financial institutions and liquidated companies. Susan brings this deep experience to bear in representing her corporate clients and is very comfortable investigating claims at all levels within a company. Most recently, she and partner Aurora Austriaco were retained by a Fortune 100 company to investigate alleged misconduct, an engagement that required fact finding at the highest levels of the corporate structure, including the chair of the company's audit committee.

Aurora Austriaco SHAREHOLDER

aaustriaco@vablawfirm.com | D (312) 238-9061

Aurora has deep knowledge of governmental and corporate contracting issues and procurement procedures, having served on numerous corporate and municipal boards. She has conducted internal investigations on alleged improprieties in the procurement process and has made recommendations to executives at the highest levels. Prior to her firm work, Aurora served for many years as in-house counsel for a large title insurance company. Her in-house experience provides her with a visceral understanding of the pressures that exist for her clients and creates a practical and wholistic business lens through which she views the issues presented in each investigation.

Lydia Bueschel SHAREHOLDER

lbueschel@vablawfirm.com | D (312) 238-9063

Lydia leads the firm's employment practice. She is adept at using skills developed in her prior career as a social worker to identify and understand underlying dynamics in workplace disputes. She is particularly effective in using these skills in the context of often-sensitive discrimination and retaliation investigations, quickly identifying issues and framing cost-effective processes, while at the same time providing the space and environment for witnesses to be forthcoming and feel heard. Lydia has worked alongside Susan in many of the firm's professional liability investigations, garnering extensive experience investigating failed banks and other insolvent entities, including insurance companies and liquidating trustees of failed entities.

Sandy L. Morris OF COUNSEL

smorris@vablawfirm.com | D (312) 238-9545

Sandy has extensive experience investigating claims of discrimination, retaliation, and unfair practices, most recently within the context of COVID-19 issues. Her clients include large institutions and businesses, for which she also uncovers and analyzes possible breaches of noncompetition agreements. Sandy has represented an international insurance carrier regarding the potential negligence of financial institutions making claims against purchase-of-receivables policies. From this work and her years representing insurance carriers in coverage disputes, Sandy understands the insurance industry's complex dynamics and regulatory environment. Her clients value her ability to issue spot, assess credibility, and synthesize multiple (and often competing) pieces of information in their efforts to effectively manage risk.

Reena Sikdar SPECIAL COUNSEL

rsikdar@vablawfirm.com | D (312) 238-9067

Reena has broad experience representing corporations, governmental entities, and individuals in high stakes internal, whistleblower, or government-initiated investigations in matters involving the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the False Claims Act, fraud, sexual misconduct, harassment, discrimination, and violations of other law or policy. Our Principle

We achieve great results for our clients. Our lawyers have tried over 150 cases to verdict or judgment. We view trial as an opportunity for client success, not a crisis. We are guided by one overriding principle: Winning Matters®

Notable Results

- Secured a trial victory for AbbVie in a high-stakes breach of contract case in Delaware Chancery Court against Takeda, which failed to supply AbbVie's requirements for Lupron, the leading hormone therapy for prostate cancer. After a four-day trial, the Court found that Takeda breached multiple provisions of the supply agreement. The case will now proceed to the second phase of the trial to determine the amount of damages to be awarded to AbbVie, which are expected to be in the high nine-figures.
- Obtained a hard-fought settlement and stipulated injunction to protect the trade secrets of Takeya USA, a manufacturer of popular stainless steel water bottles, on the proverbial eve of trial.
- Secured a settlement just days before trial for All Plastic in a high-profile patent infringement case. The District Court of Colorado adopted substantially all of Willenken's proposed constructions for seven contested terms of eight patent claims, placing All Plastic in a winning position.
- Represented the employees of an electric vehicle start-up facing allegations of misappropriation of trade secrets, violation of non-solicitation and confidentiality obligations, and breach of fiduciary duties, reaching a favorable settlement.
- On behalf of Motorola Solutions, we obtained a total defense victory and secured dismissal with prejudice of a bid-rigging and unfair competition lawsuit.
- Secured a motion to dismiss at the pleading stage by prevailing on an immunity defense under Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act for a leading social media app company in a high-stakes product liability matter.
- Obtained a $1 million victory and a total defense victory to $16 million in counterclaims—and then prevailed on those claims on appeal, on behalf of Lumens Co., Ltd.
