The NAMWOLF Compliance & Investigations Practice Area Committee

The Compliance and Investigations Practice Area Committee (PAC) is comprised of law firms and attorneys who have significant experience designing and implementing corporate compliance and ethics programs, as well as conducting internal or government-initiated investigations. The expertise within our members includes, but is not limited to investigating whistleblower complaints, defending qui tam litigation, counseling organizations as they navigate regulatory compliance challenges, advising and preparing companies to make self-disclosure decisions, defending clients in civil and criminal investigations by state and federal agencies (e.g., State Attorneys General, FTC, DOJ, SEC, FINRA, etc.), and investigating employment issues (including allegations of discrimination and policy violations). Our members have covered all aspects of compliance programs, including the development of compliance controls, risk assessments, and interfacing with external monitors. The Compliance and Investigations PAC is a resource for in-house counsel seeking qualified firms to assist them with these sensitive regulatory compliance matters. Members combine the requisite legal knowledge and skills with business acumen to craft client-focused solutions.

THE FIRM

Scharf Banks Marmor LLC represents large global enterprises, public and private businesses, and government agencies in complex litigation, compliance and corporate governance, employment, intellectual property and technology, life sciences and food.

Clients that have retained Scharf Banks Marmor to handle sophisticated legal matters include Accenture LLP, City of Chicago, DuPont, Fig Food Company, Hyatt Corporation, GlaxoSmithKline, Georgia-Pacific, Merck, OSI Group, Stratford Career Institute, Thoma Bravo, Walgreens Co., and others.

Our lawyers bring a uniformly high level of education, training and experience. All of us joined the firm with many years' experience, usually as partners, either in leading AmLaw 100 firms or as senior leaders in Fortune 100 corporate law departments. All of us have represented companies in substantial litigations or transactions. We have an unusual affinity for engagements involving science or technology. Some of us have advanced doctoral degrees with scientific and technical backgrounds.

Recognized by our clients and the profession for the quality of our legal services as well as our commitment to diversity, Scharf Banks Marmor is the largest certified women-owned law firm in Chicago, as well as Illinois and surrounding states.

APPROACH TO CLIENT SERVICE

- ▶ We are often asked: Why are you different? The short answer is, we bring an unusual combination of highly experienced lawyers, state of the art technology, and a focus on quickly getting to the results our clients want without time-consuming and costly detours. Here's how we do it.
- ▶ Our Lawyers: All of our lawyers come from substantial large firm practices, or were high level officers of law departments, having represented Fortune 100 companies as well as smaller public and privately held businesses in high pressure, high stakes matters. As a women-owned law firm, we appreciate the benefits that diverse perspectives bring to analyzing and solving legal problems.

Our lawyers have specialty skills, unusual even in larger firms, which have direct benefits in our areas of practice. One of our lawyers has a medical degree and conducted scientific research before practicing law. Another one of our lawyers has a doctorate in social sciences with special training in statistical analysis and medical research. Two of our lawyers are members of the patent bar. As a result, we have a special affinity for work in industries or matters with scientific or technical issues. We are frequent invited speakers at national seminars and authors of leading law publications. Several of us edit or write annual treatises in the areas of litigation, compliance and antitrust.

- ▶ Targeted Focus on Results: We operate under the “no surprises” rule. We value early strategic planning, regular reporting as often and in as much detail as our clients would like, and practical advice to achieve the business results that our clients want. We understand the importance of minimizing risks to the business and minimizing costs. In litigation, we have successfully tried many cases to juries and judges and know how to press for trial. At the same time we deliberately leverage opportunities for very early disposition of a matter, which is most often the goal of our clients.
- ▶ Innovative Staffing: We follow a “V” model, that provides to our clients the benefits and efficiency of working with experienced counsel who give practical, straight-to-the point advice. Most of our lawyers are partner-level attorneys and we do not staff any lawyers on your matter with less than 5 years full-time experience. We do not have minimum billing requirements for our attorneys and encourage them to be active in community and other activities that enhance their practices.
- ▶ Fees and Fee Arrangements: While many of our clients continue to prefer hourly rates, we also look for opportunities to use alternative fee arrangements. We have implemented a number of such deals and especially like arrangements that push for early results. Alternative fee arrangements can work in counseling as well as complex litigation, using such approaches as flat fee, sliding scale, partial contingency and results bonuses, alone or in combination, among a wide array of arrangements that can be win-win for both client and firm.
- ▶ Deep Local and National Networks: Our networks, and the reputations we have from them, benefit our clients, even on matters that seem at first blush to be far removed from bar and community activities. We have been elected and selected on Presidential Commissions of the American Bar Association, President of the National Association of Women Lawyers (NAWL), and leaders of a broad range of specialty and local bar groups, as well as community organizations.

COMPLIANCE & INVESTIGATIONS PRACTICE

WORKPLACE INVESTIGATION

TLG's employment lawyers regularly conduct sensitive internal corporate investigations, in a wide variety of industries, including education, healthcare, nonprofit organizations, pharmaceuticals, sports, and legal services. The need for a legal assessment often arises with claims and potential claims related to harassment, employee misconduct, disability accommodations, FMLA requests, discrimination based on age, race, disability, and gender, retaliation, and whistleblower laws. Our experienced professionals assist in triaging developing claims and providing pre and post-litigation legal consultations, as well as prospective advice on policies and procedures.

EXAMPLES OF RECENT TLG WORKPLACE INVESTIGATION MATTERS INCLUDE:

- | Counseling universities in connection with investigations of faculty members, students, and staff.
- | Investigating allegations of sexual misconduct involving an educator.
- | Investigating complaints involving the Chief Executive Officer of a major nonprofit corporation.
- | Conducting internal investigations into alleged discrimination and bullying by senior executives of various nonprofit organizations.
- | Conducting internal investigations of alleged workplace discrimination, sexual harassment, and implicit bias on behalf of law firms and nonprofit legal organizations.
- | Counseling professional organizations on investigating and responding to allegations of sexual harassment or misconduct by members.
- | Conducting an internal investigation of allegations of age, race, disability, gender discrimination, and retaliation on behalf of a public-private partnership.
- | Conducting several investigations related to complaints of mistreatment by employees of a public organization.
- | Representing clients in a Department of Labor investigation.

CONDUCTING WORKPLACE HARASSMENT INVESTIGATIONS

We initiate each investigation by gathering and evaluating documentation related to the behavior in question, followed by interviews of all of the parties involved. We record the claimant's viewpoint of the situation, documenting the details of the alleged incident(s) in question. From this conversation, TLG identifies and subsequently interviews relevant witnesses. Finally, we interview the individual(s) accused. Once all the interviews and documentation have been reviewed, TLG shares the results with the employer. Where requested, we compile our findings into a comprehensive report. Upon conclusion of the investigation, it is at the company's discretion to move forward, as appropriate. As a law firm, TLG understands and takes care to ensure privilege and discretion in the conduct of such commercially sensitive and confidential inquiries.
